VOL. 2, ISSUE 4

Dead Men Tell No Tales

"Pirates of the Caribbean" features 119 life-like Audio-Animatronics® figures – 64 humans and 55 animals!

The Caribbean waterways at Disneyland® park consist of nearly 750,000 gallons of water, which is recycled constantly and has an average depth of only 2 feet!

"Pirates of the Caribbean" was the last Disney Theme Park attraction whose creation was personally supervised by Walt Disney, and opened just months after his passing.

For the Grand Opening in the spring of 1967, a crew of pirates commandeered the Sailing Ship Columbia, fought sword battles through New Orleans Square and after taking a few hostages, broke open the doors to "Pirates of the Caribbean" with a battering ram!

The original concept for the attraction was a walk-through "Rogues Gallery" wax museum, but after the success of the "Enchanted Tiki Room" in Adventureland in 1963 and "it's a small world" at the 1964 New York World's Fair, the storyline was altered to create a ride-through exhibit.

As many as 3,600 Guests each hour can take part in the adventure aboard 46 bateaux – small, flat-bottom boats – each holding 22 passengers.

The lyrics for "Yo Ho (A Pirates Life for Me)" were written by Disney Imagineer Xavier "X" Atencio, who also provided the voice for the talking skull!

Imagineer Yale Gracey's burning city effect was too real for the fire department chief, who almost closed the ride before it opened because he thought they were actual flames!

Salty ol' Pirates

They are cursed to live forever as the undead! From producer Jerry Bruckheimer comes the live-action adventure Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl, starring Johnny Depp, Geoffrey Rush and Orlando Bloom, directed by Gore Verbinski.

The film tells the story of the roguish yet charming Captain Jack Sparrow. For Sparrow, the crystalline waters of the Caribbean present a vast playground where adventure and mystery abound. But Jack's idyllic life capsizes after his nemesis, the wily Captain Barbossa, steals his ship, the Black Pearl, and later attacks the town of Port Royal, kidnapping the Governor's beautiful daughter, Elizabeth. Elizabeth's childhood friend, Will, joins forces with Jack to commandeer the fastest ship in the British fleet in a gallant attempt to rescue her and recapture the Black Pearl. The duo and their motley crew are pursued by Elizabeth's betrothed, the debonair, ambitious Commodore Norrington, but unbeknownst to Will, Barbossa and his crew stole cursed Aztec gold as well. The curse they carry can be broken only when their once-plundered treasure is restored. Stunning visual effects bring these formidable foes to life as our valiant heroes clash mightily with Barbossa and his invincible pirates of the Caribbean.

John Knoll and his team at Industrial Light & Magic created the film's "skeletal crew." Using 3-D computer scans of the actors in the film, the talented artists at ILM made complete skeletons for each character. A skin layer and a muscle layer were then created to help each pirate transition from flesh to bone as they step into the moonlight. Each actor was filmed on the set, then removed where necessary and replaced by their digital counterpart. No detail was forgotten. As the curse takes effect, even the pirate's hair and clothes age with him! Depending on the scene, the crew at ILM sometimes left "a little meat on the bones" to help evoke the actor's original performance.

Don't miss all the excitement when Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl sets sail for adventure in theaters July 9.
